

Amnioreduction

An amnioreduction is the withdrawal or reduction of amniotic fluid from the amniotic sac containing the baby.

An amnioreduction is most often done when there is polyhydramnios, or a very large increase in amniotic fluid around the baby. Withdrawing the fluid out of the uterus allows the mother to be more comfortable and also decreases the risk of premature labour.